

CAUSES FLURRY ON WALL STREET

Henry Marquand & Co. Announce Their Suspension Today.

A HEAVY FAILURE

Had Over Six Million Dollars in a Bankrupt Branch Railway.

TROUBLE NOW OVER

New York, June 28.—Henry Marquand & Co., brokers, the firm whose million and a half dollar loan from the Seventh National bank caused the suspension of that concern yesterday, failed this morning.

The firm was one of the most substantial in Wall street and until recently no breath of suspicion was raised as to its financial stability. The firm prospered until after it agreed to finance the Pittsburgh, Shamut and Northern railroad, designed to tap some of the independent coal fields in Western Pennsylvania.

The firm is said to have nearly six millions of dollars tied up in this project, which needs nearly as much more to be carried out successfully.

Because of the independent coal project in which it was engaged, the firm brought on the enmity of the coal trust. The failure is a heavy one and will run up into the millions.

Bankers do not believe that financial troubles will go any further. With the failure of Marquand & Co. and the Seventh National, they say that the worst is past.

The statement of the Seventh National Bank for the week ending June 22, 1901, to the clearing-house was as follows:

Capital	$376,000
Net profits	234,400
Loans	4,467,100
Specie	557,700
Legal tenders	777,700
Deposits	5,712,400
Percentage of reserve	23 4-10

All the banks made the exchange at the clearing house as usual.

YALE EIGHT WINS A GREAT VICTORY BEATS HARVARD IN THE STRUGGLE

Superior Form of the Victors Told in the Final Spurt in the Boat Race Yesterday.

New London, Conn., June 28.—Under perfect conditions and in the presence of thousands of thousands upon thousands of frantically cheering spectators Yale defeated its ancient rival—Harvard—in what is acknowledged to be the most bitterly fought and most closely contested race ever rowed by college eights upon the River Thames.

From the crack of the referee's pistol until the three-mile flag was reached and passed no open water showed between the two boats, while the lead, narrow as it was at times, alternated constantly, and, as the pendulum of victory swung ever so lightly to and fro, while cheering from the partisans of the respective crews marked its progress, while the roars of saluting cannon echoed and re-echoed across the placid river and the crimson and blue were flaunted skyward in a hundred different forms.

When in the last mile Yale's oarsmen pulled themselves together from what threatened to be a fatal collapse, regained the lead, and slowly

1,000 POUND GOLD BRICK

Greatest Ignorant Ever Cast Reaches Vancouver, B. C.

Vancouver, B. C., June 28.—There arrived at Ashcroft today from Cariboo what is believed to be the largest ignot of gold ever cast. It represents the greater part of the year's clean-up of the Cariboo Consolidated Hydraulic Mining company, of which J. B. Hobson of California is the general superintendent.

The big gold brick weighs 1,000 pounds and is worth approximately $200,000. It is worth $10,000 more than the one which was sent from New York from the same mine a year ago.

The gold was brought down on a dray in charge of three mounted officers. They were four days making the trip with a four mule team. The big brick is about three feet in length and two thick, and is to be sent to the Glasgow expedition.

A DECISION OF WIDE IMPORTANCE

Bankruptcy Case Before H. M. Lewis of the United States Bankruptcy Court at Madison.

Madison, Wis., June 28.—A decision of wide importance, to the effect that a creditor of a solvent firm who seeks to recover his claim by execution and sale, thereby plunging the firm into insolvency, is not entitled to precedence as a preferred creditor, has just been rendered by Referee H. M. Lewis of the United States bankruptcy court in the case of the State bank of this city against the trustee in the bankruptcy of Hinrichs and Thompson, a leading dry goods firm here, who failed last December.

The failure of the firm was precipitated when the state bank on Dec. 10, secured judgment on two notes aggregating $7,275.91, and levied execution on the stock. Dec. 20, or ten days later, or Dec. 30 the firm went into voluntary bankruptcy. Its statement of assets and liabilities showed a balance of about $11,000 on the right side of the ledger, but Referee Lewis finds from the result of closing up its affairs that the value of its assets December 10, when the execution was levied was $28,570.60, while its indebtedness at the same time was $29,500.14, a considerable part of the assets, including the book accounts, having been over estimated. He decides therefore that the firm was insolvent at the time that the bank levied execution, and its claim as a preferred creditor is dismissed.

In deciding the case Referee Lewis says: "It seems inconsistent with a general purpose and the plan of the bankruptcy law to hold that where a debtor may be solvent on a narrow margin, one creditor may by the levy of an execution and a sale of the debtor's property, which will have the effect of rendering the debtor insolvent, obtain payment of his debt in full, while the other creditors can obtain only a small per cent of their indebtedness."

LIGHTNING ENDS BASE BALL GAME FIRST BASEMAN KILLED ON HIS BAG

In a Contest at Monroe Center, Ill., a Member of the Rockford Team Is Stricken Dead.

Rockford, Ill., June 28.—While a game of ball was in progress at Monroe Center, twenty miles southeast of this city yesterday afternoon lightning killed Morris Carlson, first baseman of the Rockford team. The electric bolt knocked down half a dozen other players and a number of spectators, all of whom, however, recovered quickly.

When the players reached Carlson's son's prostrate form they found life extinct. Death had been instantaneous.

The contesting teams were semi-professional organizations of Monroe Center and Rockford and twenty-five spectators were present. The game was played to the accompaniment of a dazzling electrical display. It had progressed to the last half of the seventh inning and the Rockford team was in the field. Monroe had failed to score and the Rockfords were working hard to secure a shut out, led by Carlson, who was the life of the team.

Carlson retired the first Monroe batter on a throw from third base. "Come boys, ginger up," cried the first baseman, as he tossed the ball back to the pitcher. "We'll get the next two."

Hardly had he uttered the words when there was a terrible report from the overcast heavens, followed by a blinding flash. The infielders all fell to their knees, and as they went down they saw Carlson clasp his hands to his breast, turn part way around, and pitch forward upon his face.

Spectators and players, when they had recovered from their fright, rushed to the fallen player's assistance, and were horrified to find him dead. Two physicians were hurriedly summoned from the village, but they could not find a spark of life.

The bolt struck Carlson upon the top of his head splitting his cap. His hair was singed a little, but the electric fluid left no other mark upon him. He did not utter a outcry. Persons who saw him fall say a flash of flame appeared for an instant above his head.

REPLY FROM RUSSIA IS EXPECTED SOON

Washington Officials Believe That the Threatened Tariff War with Russia Will Be Avoided.

Washington, June 28.—A reply from Russia to the representatives of the United States regarding the controversy between the two countries is expected by the state department about the middle of July. HOT WEATHER ALL OVER WISCONSIN

Heat Prostrations Were Numerous Yesterday. Crops Are Suffering from Heat and Drought.

Milwaukee, June 28.—Fully 5,000 men were compelled to leave their work in the rolling mills, machine shops, factories and foundries of Milwaukee and vicinity yesterday afternoon on account of the extreme heat and humidity of the atmosphere. Several men were overcome while at their work. The heat became so oppressive toward noon that orders were issued in several of the main factories for men who so desired to leave until the hot wave abated. Men left work at the Illinois Steel company's works, the Allis plant, Flier & Stowell's company's plant, Vilter Manufacturing Company's plant and a score of smaller places. Reports from many sections in all parts of the state indicate that yesterday was the hottest known in years. A storm at Boscobel raged last night and is reported to have done considerable damage.

The severe drought and the intense heat of the last week in this section is injuring the crops to an alarming extent. Hay is almost a total failure and if rain does not come within a day or two the small fruit crop will be ruined.

SATISFIED WITH CANNING FACTORY

Mid-Winter Fair Committee Held a Meeting Last Night—Bonus Must Be Raised.

The Mid-Winter Fair committee held a meeting last evening at the office of Fred L. Clemmons, to listen to a report on the condition of the canning factory.

The committee reported that the factory was now nearly completed and that Mr. Hohenadel had exceeded his promises made by him for his company in almost every particular. The plant was larger than was originally planned and has cost many thousands of dollars more than was at first figured on.

The committee recommended that the bonus agreed upon be paid to the company at once and requested that all who had signed the subscription list pay in the amount of their donation. Duplicate lists will be left at all of the banks where the money can be deposited to the credit of W. H. Greenman, treasurer of the Mid-Winter Fair committee. It is hoped that all of the subscriptions will be taken care of by July 1.

Mr. B. S. Pixley, formerly a resident of this city, died at his home in St. Joseph, Mich., on June 24, at the advanced age of eighty-three years. Mr. Pixley will be remembered by many of the old residents of the city.

SECURES DIVORCE ON NOVEL GROUNDS

A Baraboo Editor Alleges That His Wife Led Him from a Saloon by the Ear.

Baraboo, Wis., June 28.—William F. Hill, former editor of the Reedsburg Free Press and Wonewoc Reporter, was granted a divorce in the Dane county circuit court. The couple were married July 2, 1888, at Brooklyn, N. Y., and came to Wisconsin several years ago.

In his complaint Hill says that about the time he left Wonewoc he occasionally visited saloons and that his wife trained a little dog to follow him to saloons. She followed the dog and located him and led him from the saloon by the ear.

While editor of the Free Press he claims that her constant scolding and fault-finding at night so interfered with his sleep and rest that he could not properly edit his paper, and to get away from his troubles he found it necessary to take frequent hunting and fishing trips, much to the detriment of his business. By agreement Hill consented to pay Mrs. Hill $2,000 cash in addition to other considerations.

SURPRISED THE REV. MR. DENNISON

Rev. R. C. Denison was delightfully surprised yesterday when Frank Reynolds wheeled a high grade bicycle down to the parsonage and informed Mr. Denison that henceforth the wheel was to be dedicated to the pastor's use. It was the gift of about twenty men, prominent in the membership of the Congregational church.

When Rev. Denison first came to this city some of the gentlemen of the church presented him with a bicycle and Mr. Denison has used it constantly ever since. Some time ago he took it down to J. C. Shuler's machine shop to be repaired and put in shape for the season. Mr. Shuler told Mr. Denison that the wheel was worn out and that he ought to buy a new one but the pastor said that he liked the old wheel which had been such a friend to him and he thought he could make it do for another year.

The result of this conversation was that Mr. Shuler decided that the old wheel should be replaced by a new one which would be prized as highly for its associations as the old one had been. He spoke to a few gentlemen of the church, his suggestion met with hearty favor and the consequence is that the Rev. Denison now rides a new chainless wheel.

WILL MARK EPOCH IN LIBRARY WORK MEETING AT WAUKESHA NEXT WEEK

Plans for a Central Library, Which Can Be Used by Farmers—Rural Mail Delivery Will Be a Factor.

Milwaukee, June 28.—Senator J. H. Stout of Menominee, Wis., president of the Wisconsin library commission, who is in the city in attendance on the Park and Outdoor Art Association convention, said today that the coming meeting of the American library association, which will open at Waukesha next week, will be one of the largest and most important that have been held by the association.

He believes that the attendance will eclipse all other gatherings of the kind. Secretary Hutchinson of the Wisconsin commission says that the meeting will mark an epoch in library work, as for the first time the problem of extending the library movement into the agricultural sections will occupy the most of the attention of the librarians.

JESSIE MORRISON IS FOUND GUILTY

Jury Convict Her of Man-slaughter in the Second Degree.

KILLED MRS. CASTLE

Rivalry of Two Kansas Women for a Man Leads to Murder.

A SENSATIONAL CRIME

El Dorado, Kan., June 28.—Jessie Morrison was found guilty of manslaughter in the second degree late yesterday afternoon for the murder of Mrs. Olin Castle. The penalty is not more than five years nor less than three years in the penitentiary.

One of Miss Morrison's lawyers immediately filed a notice of appeal. Jessie Morrison was taken to her old cell and locked up. There her father who had been with her, left her. The jury wrangled for nearly thirty hours over the verdict.

Rivalry of Two Women.

The rivalry of two "girls" one of them 30 years old and the other 26, for the love of a boyish young man of 24, is at the bottom of this sensational tragedy. The younger and prettier one won. Nine days after she had become a bride she was slain in her new home by her rival.

G. O. Castle—Olin, everyone calls him—was a clerk in the racket store. Jessie Morrison was also a clerk in the racket store. She is the daughter of a former probate judge, and although she has lost her first blush of youth is decidedly prepossessing in face and figure. Her tender regard for her fellow clerk, Olin Castle was no secret.

Clara Wiley was a younger girl than Miss Morrison and prettier. For two years or more Olin Castle kept company with her, seeming to prefer her to Miss Morrison. On June 13—unlucky day—Olin Castle and Clara Wiley were married.

Maid a Bloody Razor.

The next morning Castle went to the store about 6:30 o'clock, as was his wont. At 9 o'clock came a message that his wife had been murdered. He hastened home and found his bride of a week on the dining room floor with her throat cut.

Neighbors told what they knew of the case. Mrs. E. R. Spangler called to neighbors across the street and one of them—Mrs. Moberly—came over, broke open one of the screen doors and hastened to the dining room where she saw Jessie Morrison, the defeated rival, standing over the prostrate form of the bride of a week with a bloody razor in her hand.

It was thought that Mrs. Castle would die before sundown. She revived sufficiently in the afternoon to write an ante-mortem statement, accusing Jessie Morrison.

But, instead of dying at once as was expected, Mrs. Castle lived eighteen days. This destroyed the value of her ante-mortem statement and on the day she died, July 10, another one was made.

Miss Morrison claimed that she had acted in self defense.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST
Thunderstorms tonight and Saturday cooler.

THE MOSQUITO AGAIN.

This hot weather has hatched out myriads of insects which are beginning to make themselves obnoxious to man and animal. Never has mankind been more indebted than to the germ theory of contagious diseases. We realize that anything that can convey living disease germs to our blood will always be an enemy as much dreaded as the germs themselves.

House flies have proven their ability to infect sterilized cultures by simply walking across it once. Mosquitoes are much more dangerous because they come in contact not only with the body but also the blood of man.

Suppose a mosquito sucks blood from an infected person or animal and repeats the operation on a healthy person, the lancet of the insect will most likely be covered with disease germs or plasmodia, which only need a suitable medium to grow and multiply; this medium is furnished by the warm blood of man.

Exhaustive experiments were conducted on the Roman Campagna, one of the worst malarial districts known, by five English scientists. They lived out doors during the day and at sunset went inside netting covered tents. Not one of the men suffered from malaria, but when five mosquitoes were sent by them to a scientist and were allowed to bite his arm, he was immediately taken sick with malaria.

Several commissions have been sent to Cuba to study yellow fever, and in the last Popular Science Monthly, Surgeon Sternberg, who has written the best work on bacteriology known, concludes to blame the mosquito for the spread of that dread disease.

Having located the agent of contagious diseases, now it remains for these scientists to find a method of exterminating the mosquito.

Much blame has been laid to "light air," as unhealthful, when more blame should be laid to those insects which forage during the night.

Medical scientific men are doing so much to make man happier and longer lived, that too much esteem and praise cannot be given them for their efforts, which mean generally a great deal of self denial.

DEMO-POPS BECOMING EXTINCT

Kansas has always been looked upon as the home and in fact, the originator of the Fusionists, or as they were generally known, the Demo-Pops. In two elections the people have so pronouncedly decided the fusion party that for the leaders all that remains to be done is to erect a headstone. In 1892 the populists were in the majority; two years later the democrats cast a small vote, which came from the populists. In 1896 the Demo-Pops defeated the republicans by a small majority and that has ended the success of coalition. For two elections the democrats have pulled away from the populists and are determined to go it alone, even if the republicans win by overwhelming majorities.

This action shows an abundance of courage and a fight for principle which commends itself even to enemies.

Populism has been a fad and as such appealed to the dissatisfied westerner who is generally disgruntled at almost anything. The party has been made up generally of back biters and grumblers who cannot even agree to disagree for any length of time.

But they and their party are occupying a page of history, and will be happy if they can find another cause to split the existing parties.

Those who have been fearing a coal famine in a few years will do well to figure up the saving made by using crude oil found in Texas and California. Three roads during the past year have saved $5,000,000 by substituting oil for coal.

With our colleges turning out thousands of graduates this month to make places for them in the world, we ask the question, "Not how much do you know, but how much can you do?" Practical results are what the world demands.

European troubles, as far as American manufacturers are concerned, are multiplying. We now have the finest Italian macaroni made from American wheat, by Americans and according to American methods.

The most practical use to which the wireless telegraph has been put, is made use of between the members of the Hawaiian Islands. Its service is as good as a cable and costs but a trifle.

The meeting of Association for Outdoor Art in Milwaukee have been most interesting, and will probably result in awakening considerable interest there in municipal aesthetics. The transforming of old cemeteries into parks has been advocated.

The little man with a big pull has been dropped from the Chicago school system. Supt. Nightingale had too many irons in the fire to succeed with any one.

Congratulations to Supt. Cooley, of Chicago. He has done more in removing his school system from politics than his predecessors ever dared expect to do.

One job and one family is enough for most men. Mr. Klein of Chicago must be of the opinion that if one family is good, two are better.

A SOLID SILVER TEA SERVICE

Set Sent to the Home of Supt. Mayne, with the Compliments of the High School Students.

When Supt. D. D. Mayne goes to Ishpeming, Mich., to take charge of the public schools he will take with him to his new home many pleasant reminders of Janesville. None will be prized more highly than the solid silver tea service which was left at his home yesterday with the compliments of the students of the High School. The set is a handsome one in old Colonial style and includes five pieces and a large silver tray.

The elegant simplicity of style is enhanced by the ornamental beading on the edges. The two pots have ebony handles and the service is probably the richest and handsomest in the city. The owner of such a service could scarcely fail to prize it highly for its intrinsic value alone, but to Supt. Mayne the shining silver will reflect the faces of the students of whose great affection it is but a small token.

Supt. Mayne's new home will also contain a pleasing remembrance of the grade teachers. Before school closed the teachers decided that a handsome picture should be a token of their esteem and they requested Rev. R. C. Denison and Mrs. F. A. Capelle to make the selection for them. Rev. Denison notified Supt. Mayne yesterday of the gift and the picture is expected to arrive today. It is a hand-colored steel engraving, the subject being a landscape. It is a representative of the finest art and is most artistically framed.

Supt. Mayne said yesterday that the great pleasure which these gifts brought to him was faintly shadowed by the fact that they were given at a time which made it impossible for him to express the gratitude which he feels so deeply to the donors personally.

One of the principal thoughts which induced the High School teachers to select the bust of Shakespeare with which they presented Mr. Mayne some time ago, was the wish that the token of their affection should be one which would be enjoyed by Mrs. Mayne equally as much as by her husband.

Supt. Mayne has recently returned from Ishpeming, Mich., where he visited the schools for two weeks. He and his wife are busy in packing up their household goods and in getting them ready to be shipped. Mr. Mayne will go to Detroit week after next to attend the meeting of the National Educational association. At the close of the meeting he will go to Buffalo and from there to Chautauqua. If Mrs. Mayne's health will permit, Mr. Mayne will be accompanied by his wife and their two sons. In this case when they return from Chautauqua only a few days will be spent in this city before the family moves to Michigan. Owing to Mrs. Mayne's health, however, all plans for the summer are necessarily very uncertain.

DETAILS OF THE LIBRARY PLANS

Architect Jennings of Madison was in the city last evening, and met with the library board for the purpose of discussing the details of the plans. The plans as submitted by the architect have been accepted with the understanding that the optional bids will be required. In this way if the building which the plans and specifications call for promises to be more costly than the appropriation will allow, substitutions of other materials can be made on these optional bids. For instance optional bids will be secured on the cornice and if necessary a cheaper one than the first specifications call for will be used.

Mr. Jennings returned to Madison to prepare the specifications and he expects to have his work completed by the middle of next week. Michael Hayes, the clerk of the board, has been authorized to attend to the matter of advertising for bids and will do so as soon as he receives the specifications.

Consumptive's Home for Boston. Thomas F. Welch of West Roxbury has offered to Boston in that section of the city three acres of land and sufficient building stone for the erection of a consumptive's home, provided the city will pay for construction, equipment and maintenance.

MAN KILLER HORSE WILL BE SUBDUED

Greatest Battle Between Man and Horse Ever Witnessed in the State of Wisconsin.

Janesville Fair Grounds, right in front of the grand stand, Friday night, June 28; the great and only Prof. O. R. Gleason will attempt to tame the most vicious horse in Rock county and there will be one of the greatest performances ever given in Janesville and will enable our people to see him tackle Weyler, the butcher, as the most vicious horse in Rock county. Prof. Gleason has arranged to run excursions from Madison and Beloit here to this city for one fare. The Beloit special train leaves the C. M. & St. P. station at 11:30 p. m. and the Madison train leaves at 12:10. Weyler is said to be a terrible beast and a desperate struggle for his subjection is unavoidable. Prof. Gleason is confident of being able to conquer but those who know the horse have their doubts. Prof. Gleason will exhibit on the Fair Grounds. He will visit Rockford next and then go to Toledo Ohio.

This will be the one great treat of your life and never again will you have a chance to see the great Gleason. Gleason will exhibit his great gun powder methods this night, giving the public the same great exhibition he gave in Boston, New York and Chicago. Nothing but the most vicious horses in Rock county will be tamed by Gleason.

Only 50 cents to see this, the greatest display of horse taming ever witnessed in the state of Wisconsin. Children under twelve years of age admitted free if accompanied by their parents. All teams are admitted free to this grand and glorious exhibition which will be worth coming many miles to witness. Parties are now being gotten up to attend in a body, and much interest has been created over the event in many outlying towns.

Prices go to pieces but quality remains firm. In such an enormous stock of wash goods as we show many a remnant will accumulate. We have taken about 400 short lengths of dimities, lawns, batistes, percales, etc., regular 15c goods, and marked them at 10c a yard. Most of these remnants are in waist and skirt lengths. We're daily adding new ones to the lot. J. M. Bostwick & Sons.

The closing out sale of carpets, rugs, curtains, etc., is of absolute value to buyers in Janesville and Rock county. We must either sell the stock we have or move it to some other place while our store is being remodeled and we prefer to sell the goods. Prices will do the business. Look up the figures in the large ad. Bort, Bailey & Co.

STRAIGHT OR RIDING BOWES

CAPACITY OF THE CANNING FACTORY

HANDSOME SUBSTANTIAL BUILDING BEING BUILT.

Main Building is 22x48, Two Stories High—Has a Capacity of 150,000 Cans of Corn Per Day—Building is Rapidly Nearing Completion.

Very few people in Janesville have any idea of the capacity of the canning plant now being built in Spring Brook by the P. Hohenadel Jr. Co. The main buildings are all of red brick and built in a manner to withstand the wear of years. Only the best material is being used in the construction of the plant which is all under the supervision of Mr. P. Hohenadel, Jr.

The structure consists of a main building 22x48 with a basement the full length, two stories high of red brick, and is known as the main storehouse, with a brick wing 128x38 feet, three stories high with a basement, used for canning sweet corn. A cabbage room 32x48 of brick and one story high with a basement. A brick boiler room which is 48x48 one story high. This is the extent of the brick buildings, besides which there is a frame pickle salting house 25x48, one story high and a pickle process room 48x52 and a corn husking room 160x38, one story high.

Fixed for Sauerkraut. The main storehouse is located on the south side of the plant and will be used for the manufacture of "Kraut." It has a capacity of 1,000 barrels a day and is the largest of its kind in the world. The storehouse has the advantage having railroad sidetracks of both the Northwestern and St. Paul roads running its entire length.

The cabbages are received in the cabbage receiving room on the first floor where they are chopped up by machines and taken from the room into the basement by automatic carriers and deposited in fifty large vats each holding three hundred barrels, capable of filling one hundred and fifty cars at one sitting. The kraut remains in this state until it is fully fermented after which it is packed in barrels for shipment. This warehouse has twelve foot platforms on each side between the tracks and buildings and adds much to the convenience of the plant. The building is supplied with steam elevators by means of which the kraut is taken from the basement to the main storage rooms above.

Corn Department. The corn canning department is in the brick wing 128 by 38, three stories high, and at the north end of the plant. The corn is first received at the corn husking shed 160x38 and located north of the brick factory. Here it is husked by hand "the only part of the work not done by machinery." It is then conveyed to the third story of the canning building by endless carriers. Here it is taken from the cob by eight of French's improved model corn cutters and dropped automatically into three Sprague corn soakers. From there it goes to the canning room on the first floor which is 128x38, equipped with the most modern topping machines with a capacity of one hundred and fifty thousand cans of corn a day.

After the corn is canned it is then passed on by machines to fourteen large iron retorts and given its final cooking. The retorts each have a capacity of one thousand five hundred cans per hour. It is not generally known that corn is given its final cooking after being sealed in the cans. After being cooked it is labeled and taken to the basement store room for shipment.

This department is equipped with French's automatic capping, filling and cutting machines of the latest pattern. There is also over $3,000 worth of automatic conveying machinery manufactured by the Link Belt Machine Co.

Pickle Sorting House.

The pickle sorting house is a frame structure one story high, with six feet of open ventilating space on all sides near the roof. It is situated just south of the canning building and west of the main warehouse. It is 25x48 and contains thirty salting vats, fourteen feet in diameter and eight feet high holding four hundred barrels each, from this room the cucumbers are taken to the pickle process room where they are finally prepared for market.

The boiler room is 48x48 built of solid brick, equipped with three Freeman Mfg. Cos. 100 horse power boilers and a one hundred horse power high speed Freeman engine. There is also in the boiler room three large Fairbanks-Morse pumps, capable of pumping 22,000 gallons of water an hour each for fire protection. There is also a forty foot steel tower and a five hundred barrel tank on top for fire purposes. These with the city water given them fire protection second to none in the city.

The offices of the company will be located on the south end of the main storage warehouse and will be three in number, two private and one general office, which will be fitted up in modern style.

Open Drains Provided.

The floors in all of the buildings are calked to prevent leaking and slope to the center where open drains carry all of the waste fluid to a private sewer three thousand feet long which runs from the works to the center of Rock River.

The plant has reached that stage of completion that the roofs are in place on all of the buildings with the exception of the boiler room. They will be five ply tar and gravel and will be put on by the Lewis Roofing Co. of Rock Island, Ill. Their contract calls for about one thousand square yards of roofing.

The contracts call for the completion of the buildings by July 10 and the completion of the machinery contracts by August 10. John Peters has the contract for the brick work; Blair and Summers the carpenter work, and F. E. Green the plumbing. The canning machines were furnished by Daniel French & Co. of Chicago and the kraut and pickle tanks by the Fairbanks, Morse & Co. of Beloit.

When completed the plant will cost in the neighborhood of $60,000 and will be one of the most modern and complete factories in the United States. It is one of the largest canning plants in the country and the largest kraut packing plant in the world. Its capacity being one thousand barrels per day.

The promoters of this enterprise already have four other plants similar to this in operation at Cassville, Onalaska, Prairie du Chien and DuBuque, Ia. Mr. Hohenadel stated this morning "that the plant in this city would be the largest and most complete of any of their factories."

The work has reached a stage of completion beyond which there will not be any question of their ability to handle this season's produce.

MERCURY STOOD AT 98.

During the last five days this section has been visited by a period of extreme heat. Although there has been no deaths in this vicinity, there has been a number of cases of prostration, none of which have proved serious. For five days at 1:30 p. m. the thermometer in Bower City bank corner has stood at 98, which is doing fairly well for this country. The extreme heat has been tempered with a good breeze, which although it felt as if it came from a furnace, has helped to keep the thermometer down somewhere in reason.

RETURN HOME OF HELEN FIFIELD

Says Her Mind Was a Blank from the Time She Left Until She Returned.

Helen Fifield reached home from Chicago and Buffalo last evening over the Janesville & Southeastern railroad at 6:40 o'clock. She was accompanied by her uncle, James S. Fifield, who had been in Chicago since last Saturday helping in the search. She seemed to be all right except that she was dazed and unstrung, and can give no account of her doings while away from home or what actuated her to leave. To her mind the time from Wednesday night, on June 19, to Wednesday, the 26th, is a blank.

When her attention was called to it she had an indistinct recollection of attending Miss Jeffris party but after that she cannot tell what has happened. On Monday last private detectives discovered a clew that led them to believe that Miss Fifield was in Buffalo. They did not inform her parents of the clew for the reason that so many had proved false and this one might turn out like the others. A lady friend of the family residing in Chicago volunteered to go to Buffalo and identify Miss Fifield.

She reached Buffalo Wednesday and went to the boarding house where Miss Fifield was stopping and at once recognized her as the missing girl. She spoke to Helen and called her by name several times before she recognized her. She finally recovered from the stupor she was under and wanted to know where she was and when told by the lady was very much surprised.

They then left the boarding house and went to the depot and here Miss Fifield telegraphed her father the first definite news he had had of her whereabouts.

Miss Fifield had the same clothes on when she returned home last night that she wore away when she left home. She had on a black skirt that had long been discarded, a pink waist and black jacket and shoes. Her hat was a light colored straw hat that at one time belonged to her sister Ethel and had been thrown aside by her a year ago. She had a good sized leather grip in which was another skirt, a blue one, that she had also given up wearing, a dressing sack and some toilet articles.

The only way that the family can account for Miss Fifield's going to Buffalo is that she had the place in mind on account of having arranged to go there with her aunts when on her way east.

The last week has been one that to the family has seemed like years. The finding of the lost girl has re-awakened a joyous reaction. Their friends about town are rejoicing with them over the outcome of the affair and congratulations are coming in from all sides.

MODEL SHAVING PARLORS.

Opened in the Grand Hotel by Mert J. Brennan of This City.

Model in every respect is the shaving parlor opened by Mert J. Brennan in the Grand Hotel block. The store the shop occupies is one of three beneath the new Grand Hotel addition and is a spacious one. Three new chairs of the latest pattern have been installed together with furniture of the golden oak variety. The chairs are in oak, beautifully upholstered. They are of the revolving patent and are thus easily handled, with little exertion on the part of the barber.

Large mirrors grace the wall, furnishing, giving the whole a pleasing effect. Several comfortable chairs have been placed in convenient places, also tables that contain the daily papers. The walls of the shop have been newly papered and decorated. A feature of the shop is a compressed air machine that is used for drying the hair and spraying the face. The cost of furnishing the shop was $1,000. Mr. Brennan for nineteen years has been engaged in the tonsorial business and many here will join in wishing him success in his new location.

MEXICAN ONYX FOUNTAIN.

Costly One Has Been Placed in the J. P. Baker Drug Store.

Constructed entirely of beautiful figured Mexican onyx, a new soda fountain, costing a goodly sum, has been placed in the J. P. Baker drug store on West Milwaukee street. The improvement is a most noticeable one. The fountain was manufactured by the Otto Zweigach Co., of Milwaukee, and contains twelve separate porcelain lined syrup apartments, the syrups being so drawn that in no way can they come in contact with metal of any kind. Two soda drafts and three mineral arms extend from the fountain. A V-shaped marble top counter faces the fountain, supported by a special constructed golden oak counter. A large handsome beveled edge mirror hangs above. Small electric lights give the whole a pretty effect. Mr. Baker uses only pure fruit syrups of his own manufacture. The fountain in every detail is complete. Mr. Baker can congratulate himself on having a modern, handsome soda fountain in every respect.
